Watching 7300 Tickers
Good Rain, Good Crops
Another Flying Lady
Heavy Loss, Stabilized

"EVERYBODY" is a big word, but it is a fact that almost "Everybody" is in the street, that is to say, speculating in stocks.

The business man, grown rich at something he understands, and trying something that he doesn't understand, may feel sorry for himself later.

The girl with a typewriter in front of her has her few shares, and wonders when she will have a million.

There is more interest in 7300 stock exchange tickers than in all the books in all the libraries.

There was trembling among tickers and ticker watchers yesterday when call money, used for speculation, went to 7 per cent, and stocks went down.

"Big people" apparently want to discourage excessive gambling by the little people.

Crops in the corn belt have taken an upward turn. Rains in Kansas, Nebraska, Missouri and Oklahoma cheer the farmers. The Arkansas river valley reports, "Wheat will make 35 bushels to the acre."

All that is cheerful for the Republican candidate, whoever he may be.

Nothing melts irritation on the farms like good rain, good crops, good prices.

La Follette's vote dwindled away as the price of wheat went up.

Farmers who demand a presidential candidate "in favor of farm equality" really need equality in methods of production. A blacksmith making an automobile with his own hands would vastly demand equality with production on a big scale.

Farmers, in this age of perfect ed industry and quantity production, do their own producing, largely with the methods of 100 years ago.

They will remember that it is easy to make promises.

"There shall be in England seven halfpenny loaves sold for a penny; the three-hopped pot shall have ten hops; and I will make it a felony to drink small beer."

In a general way, the public feels that young ladies trying to attract attention might find some better plan than adding their weight to a dangerous transatlantic flight. But there will be sympathy for Miss Earhart, now flying with Pilot Stutz.

When she isn't flying, Miss Earhart is looking after poor children, giving her money and her time. An excellent flier, she has never had an accident and she was one of the first to put capital into the Dunsen air-port.

The franc will be stabilized, probably at four cents. Thousands of French people with incomes from French government rentes perpetuelle will have their fortunes permanently reduced by 40 per cent.

It is as though millions of Americans should suddenly find their dollars each worth 20 cents.

France won the war, but war does not pay, even when you win. And that important fact.

James Opens Attack on Reading BOSTON GIRL'S OCEAN FLIGHT HELLED UP BY RISING WINDS

AMERICANS IN PACIFIC FLIGHT GIVEN CREDIT FOR SUCCESS BY CHIEF

Says Fiji Islands, June 6 (AP)—(Wednesday)—Having successfully traversed approximately 5538 miles of ocean between Oakland, Cal., Hawaii and Suva, the fliers of the monoplane Southern Cross had a busy program before them today in preparation for their 1700-mile hop to Brisbane, en route to Sydney, Australia.

There were many things to do. First, the gasoline and oil remaining in the fuel tanks of the Southern Cross, located on the floor of the plane, had to be taken off safely for its flight over the sea toward Australia; then the three motors that laboriously

Lindy 'Lost,' But Finds Himself

St. Louis, June 6 (AP)—Charles A. Lindbergh, who left St. Louis, Mo., at 10:30 a. m. today, landed at Lambert-St. Louis field at 10:30 a. m. in his new monoplane.

Lindbergh reported that the flight had been successful and that he had landed safely. He had lost his way for a while, but had found his way back to the ground.

GIRL FLIER AS "GRAD"

FRIENDSHIP'S CREW IS EAGER TO START LONG DASH ACROSS ATLANTIC

Trepassey Bay, N. F., June 5—The big red and gold Fokker monoplane Friendship was riding the harbor swell here today awaiting the pull of its three motors and the pilot's hand to carry a fair-haired Boston girl and two male companions out over the Atlantic towards England.

Hope of starting this forenoon were dashed when a rising wind delayed the refueling of the plane for the overseas hop.

Seven more tanks of gasoline remained to be poured into the plane's reservoirs when the wind began buffeting the sea.

The fliers had planned a takeoff at noon, but conditions had not changed.

Aside from the wind the weather was clear and fine.

A leak was discovered in one of the gas tanks after the plane landed here, but it was said that this could be repaired without difficulty before the start across the Atlantic began.

Miss Amelia Earhart, who aspires to be the first woman to fly the Atlantic, was out early today "browsing" the task of refueling the plane.

JAMES OPENS BITTER ATTACK ON READING

With the most bitter attack upon a public official ever voiced in the legislative chamber, Representative George F. James of Norwood today opened the fight for adoption of the resolution to impeach Atty.-Gen. Arthur K. Reading.

James, as chairman of the committee which investigated Reading's conduct, said that the committee had found Reading guilty of misconduct and maladministration, and that the committee had recommended that Reading be removed from office.

James said that the committee had found Reading guilty of "gross negligence, incompetence and maladministration, and that the committee had recommended that Reading be removed from office."

SAY NOBILE SENDS SOS

Moscow, Russia, June 5 (AP)—The Soviet meteorological station at St. Boris reported today that it had picked up what was believed to be an SOS from the missing flight.

The station reported that it had received a signal which it believed to be an SOS from the missing flight.

BLOOD ON KNOWLTON'S AUTO, STATE CHARGES

Human blood has been found beneath black paint alleged to have been brushed on the car after the girl's crashed body was found in Canada.

According to the district attorney, experts will be placed on the stand among them Medical Examiner Gen. D. Maguire of Suffolk County and Dr. J. H. H. of the Harvard Medical School.

Characterizing the killing of the girl as a "cold-blooded murder," the state attorney general today announced that he would seek the death penalty for the girl's slaying.

Amelia Earhart when she was "the proudest aviatrix in the world." Photo shows her on the day she got her air pilot's license.

Note the remarkable resemblance she bears to Lindbergh, on whose wing trail she flies to Europe.

BOSTON AMERICAN

BOSTON, TUESDAY, JUNE 5, 1928

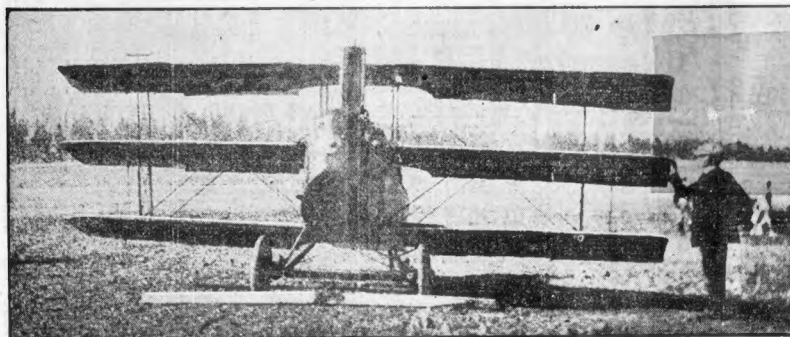

Photo shows the Kinner triplane in which Miss Earhart set her remarkable altitude record. If cannot, of course, compare with the big triple-motored plane in which she hopped from Boston for London to accomplish what no woman has succeeded in doing, flying the Atlantic.

Even at the age of seven years Amelia was inclined to be audacious and take chances. She liked the sterner sports and was a hale and hearty little girl as this photo denotes—although flying hadn't come into vogue then.

Miss Amelia Earhart at the age of 25 years and a full-fledged bird girl. For months she longed for the great air adventure. In April she began laying her plans for the hop.

Muriel Earhart at the age of nine months and Amelia when she was three. Miss Muriel now is a teacher in Medford junior high school, while Amelia is faring forth in one glorious hop across the Atlantic for fame and wealth. The younger sister did not suspect her plan until she had gone.

MAYOR NICHOLS MAKES DOLLAR INSURANCE

Mayor Nicholas E. Nichols is an enthusiastic booster for the Boston Evening American's $10,000 accident insurance policy for $1.00 a year. In fact his honor is one of the pioneer endorsers of the plan to relieve some of the suffering caused by accidents through the Boston Evening American's insurance at cost offer.

"I am very glad to commend the accident insurance offer of the Boston Evening American," declared Mayor Nichols. "Every day in the newspapers we read reports of accidents on highways and on the high-seas where the victims are suffering and their heavy toll in death and injury, and in the workshop and in the home.

"But we do not always know, or realize the suffering and distress of those left dependent because of the unfortunate results of these accidents where, in many cases, all financial income is suddenly cut off.

The keen business and professional man invests some portion of his income for the protection of himself and his family. So also should the man and woman dependent upon a weekly wage.

No better opportunity is presented than that of the Boston Evening American, which brings this form of protection within the reach of every one through its $1.00 accident policy for $1.00 for a year. It is my understanding that no medical examination is required. There is no complicated routine and no financial gain for the Boston Evening American, the purpose being to help the unfortunate.

"The Boston Evening American is making this offer in connection with its campaign to cut down the growing number of accidents resulting in death and injury to the citizens of Boston and New England, and I most heartily commend it for the serious consideration of all."

MANY PRAISE OFFER
As Mayor of Boston, Mr. Nichols is in close touch with the distress and suffering of its citizens through the steadily mounting number of accidents. Many of the dependents of these accident victims would have had to appeal to the city for aid had there been an efficient form of insurance. In the case, Mayor Nichols like all other city and state officials who have viewed the accident situation with alarm realize that there are many persons who are too content with the idea of "live today and let the morrow take care of itself."

Often the morrow is the day of accident and sorrow with no means of insurance with which to meet the sudden drain on the family finances.

Mayor Nichols believes in insurance for the people. With a $10,000 accident insurance policy for $1.00 a year placed within easy reach of everyone and anybody in New England through the offer of the Boston Evening American, he sees no excuse for any man or woman to live without this necessary protection.

Similar opinions are being expressed by other prominent men and women in Massachusetts and New England. Many of them have taken out this insurance—cost policies even though they are carrying other policies.

BE PREPARED
Eighty-six thousand persons are downed through accidents the statistics claim. Will you be one of them? Have you the protection insurance provides for yourself and your dependents?

Lives are being snuffed out with nearly every tick of the clock. The daily toll of the injured is thousands. It may be the loss of the sight of an eye, the use of a hand or a foot, days of suffering for yourself and your dependents, with the great of accidents and heartaches piling up day after day.

Yes, you may be one of the many. It is not pleasant to think about. Yet there is a lot of comfort in knowing that with a Boston Evening American accident insurance policy for $1.00 a year, you are prepared when adversity comes through accident.

Thousands of New England citizens are taking advantage of the Boston Evening American's insurance-at-cost offer. A $10,000 accident insurance policy for $1.00 a year. No medical examination, no red tape and no strings. Fill out the coupon and send it with $1.00 to the Boston Evening American, and the $10,000 accident policy is yours.

MAVIS

TRADE MARK REG.

CHOCOLATE DRINK

Listen Dealers!

Mavis has more real value than any other 5c drink sold in bottles. One bottle of Mavis costs as much to make as two bottles of many other 5c bottled drinks. Mavis is superior to all other 5c bottled drinks from the standpoint of (1) Deliciousness (2) Refreshment (3) Nutriment (4) Food Value (5) Ingredients (6) Purity.

Mavis sales records show that more Mavis has been consumed in the United States during its first year than any other nationally known 5c bottled drink can boast in its 10th year of existence. In less than five years Mavis is destined to become the largest selling 5c bottled drink in the world with an outlook for sales of over twenty million bottles per day.

Now—a Word to the Public!

Mavis is made of pure chocolate...honey...sugar and other wholesome ingredients. Mavis is as delicious as any 10c or 15c chocolate milk drink sold at soda fountains. Mavis is sold in bottles only. Avoid substitutes. Ask for Mavis by name.

Mavis is different from other 5c bottled drinks. Mavis contains NO acids. NO coloring matter. NO drugs. NO preservatives. Mavis doesn't imitate anything. Mavis is Real!

Mavis is so pure, delicious, wholesome and digestible that the smallest tots thrive on it. Mavis builds their little bodies into strong, sturdy youngsters and brings bloom to their cheeks. As a refreshing bracer...Mavis is the ideal drink for man, woman or child...Mavis quenches thirst and satisfies hunger between meals, because a 5c bottle of Mavis contains as much food value in calories as a glass of Grade A Milk...or 6 oz. of whole wheat bread...or two fresh eggs.

Mavis is sterilized and pasteurized in the bottle. Its full flavor, freshness and fragrance is retained until you open the bottle to enjoy its delicious contents.

J. & M. STAGES PARADE OF THE BOX CARS

A novel parade of the box cars and a huge crowd of 1500 persons under a "big top" pavilion in the center of the yards featured today the formal opening and dedication of the new Boston classification yards of the Boston & Maine railroad.

The classification yards which embrace a 40-acre mechanism for the speedy sorting and switching of the bound and outbound freight were built at a cost of $1,000,000, and have a sorting capacity of 2,000,000 cars a year.

Speaker John C. Hull of the House on behalf of Governor Fuller, and W. P. Garcelon, chairman of the New England Shippers' Advisory Board, at the ceremonies with President Treasurer and Vice-President Hawkins of the railroad in an exchange of greetings and congratulations.

The guests, including railroad executives and shippers from all over

Bryan's Daughter in Second Race for Congress Seat

Jacksonville, Fla., June 5 (AP)—

—Voters went to the polls today to nominate officers ranging from United States Senator down to county authorities.

[Following in the political footsteps of her father, W. J. Bryan, Ruth Bryan Owen for the second time sought to succeed Congressman W. J. Sears of Killebrew as Representative from the Fourth District.

New England and many sections of the United States and Canada, were taken to the classification yards in three special trains to the hub-and-spoke on the top of Asylum Hill, from where they could see the vast network of tracks, involving 225 miles of rails.

The guests were told that each classification yard can handle three cars a minute from the time a train from the West reaches the yard.

Then there was a demonstration of the devices incorporated in the yards, the car retarder, the power-thrown automatic switches, the pneumatic tubes, teletype transmission, loud speaker phones, hot oiling devices and other appliances.

HOOVER STOCK GOING UP AT KANSAS CITY

Kansas City, June 5 (AP)—Riding on the wave of victories in the first of the delegate contests decided by the Republican national committee, Herbert Hoover's backers squared away today to put additional punch in their drive for the presidential nomination in the face of a determined opposition that is passing the word it has just begun to fight.

Success in placing 11 southern delegates, whose credentials had been challenged, definitely in the Hoover bag bolstered the opinion of his lieutenants, especially James W. Good, his campaign manager.

ON THE FIRING LINE.

Both the Lowden and Watson firing line, were mapping out a plan of attack with which they hoped to stop Hoover. In this they counted on other presidential aspirants opposing Hoover.

Lowden himself is coming the last of the week to give personal attention to his campaign. Clarence F. Black, manager of his presidential fight, on his arrival, emphasized that Lowden in no sense is an "anti-swinging" candidate, and said Lowden is not opposed to Coolidge.

He predicted Lowden would pull around 300 votes on the first ballot.

Watson of Indiana is the only candidate on the battleground. He came yesterday accompanied by his manager, M. Bert Thurman, and lost no time in letting it be known he is out to win the nomination.

SLEEP ON HAND.

Many of the party wheel horses already have arrived in Kansas City, among them C. Bacon Sharp of Virginia, former secretary to President Coolidge and one of Hoover's supporters.

At its first sessions the committee made it a clean sweep for Hoover in contests from Florida and Kentucky. Four delegates-at-large and first district delegates from Florida, were pledged to Hoover.

On the temporary convention vote, George W. Bush, national committee chairman from Florida, took the first real beating of the political life—he sought unsuccessfully to obtain recognition for an untried delegate.

THREE MORE CONTESTS.

The committee also approved the supposed credentials of two Hoover delegates from the First Kentucky district.

Ahead of it today were the important contests, involving whole state delegations, from Louisiana, Mississippi and Texas.

Perry Howard, negro national committee chairman from Mississippi, announced that his state of delegates had voted unanimously to support Hoover. Howard will find himself up against him a "billy white" faction, headed by former Governor Shubert of Nebraska, now a Mississippi planter.

Dr. F. E. Stratton Dies

New York, June 5 (AP)—Dr. Frederick E. Stratton, former dean of Fargo College, Fargo, N. D., died after an illness of nine months. He was 88 years old. He was born in Athol, Mass.

THREE GIRLS GRADUATED AT TECH

From the hands of President Samuel W. Stratton, Massachusetts Institute of Technology, three young women today received the coveted sheepskin emblematic of Bachelor of Science degrees.

They were among more than 100 Technology students receiving degrees at the M. I. T. graduation exercises in Symphony Hall. The young women so honored were the Misses Katherine H. De Wolf, Bristol, R. I.; Roberta R. Lovely, Burlington, and Rosemary Norris, Cincinnati.

DEGREES AWARDED.

The entire graduating class numbered nearly 100 more who received their degrees in January.

John Hays Hammond, noted engineer, made the graduation address. In the natural resources of the world there lies an unbounded field of opportunity for the American engineer, he told them.

To 37 students S. B. degrees were awarded; degrees of master of science were conferred on 159, eight graduates as doctor of science, six as doctor of philosophy, six as doctor of architecture and one as doctor of public health.

The invocation was read by the Rev. Sidney Lovett. Following came administration of oath of office to members of the Officers Reserve Corps by Maj. Gen. Preston Brown, commanding the First Coast Artillery, and the announcement of honors and presentation of degrees by Dr. Stratton.

PRIZES ANNOUNCED.

Graduation honors were conferred upon the following students: Department of architecture—Ira Douglas Blake, Belmont. Department of chemistry—Eli Victor Pascoe, Adams; George Wayne Rigby, Salem, Ore. Department of electrical engineering—Harold Lewis Turner, Ver Plank, Salem. Department of physics—David George Croft Lock, Cambridge; Ermanno Antonio Basilio, Quincy; John Vancut Vint, Boston. Department of chemical engineering—Donald Stevens Cryder, State College, Pa.; Ernest Kingsford Brown, Boise, Ida. Department of geology—Guillermo Zolotas, Caracas, Venezuela; Charles Stark Draper, Palo Alto, Cal.; Victor Claude Smith, Beaufort, S. C.

The Reich prize of the department of architecture was divided between St. Hann, Jr., of Louisville, Ky., and C. Goldberg of Boston. The special Reich prize for a student completing two years work was awarded to L. E. Carlone of Providence. He was also the winner of the department of architecture's Pompadour scholarship.

Low Number Autoists May Keep Numerals

Proud possessors of low automobile numbers, who feared that Registrar of Motor Vehicles George A. Parker might introduce some new system that would cause them to lose their valued privilege, need worry no longer.

The Registrar has decided, he announced, to make no change in the system and the low-numbered elite will remain the envied of those whose numbers mount into the half-million class.

In the fall, application blanks will be sent to all owners having numbers under 10,000, and they can retain their old numbers to their desire. At first Capt. Parker thought the system smacked of favoritism.

MEDFORD MAN APPEALS IN NORTHERN ARTERY CASE

Fred A. Steele of Piggett rd., Medford, was sentenced by Judge M. E. Sturtevant in Somerville District Court to serve two months in the House of Correction for operating an automobile so as to endanger the lives and safety of the public on the Northern Artery. Steele appealed and furnished $100, but for his appearance in superior court. He is alleged by the police to have driven his machine in such a manner that Motorcycle Officer James A. Fitzpatrick, performing traffic duty, had to jump out of the way to avoid being struck down. Steele also was fined $10 for operating a machine without the license being endorsed with signature.

Woman, Seeking Mother, Boards Car to Find Her

Florence Philbrook of 1330 Salem st., Malden, exhausted after a two-day search for her 86-year-old mother, Mrs. Annie Philbrook, wearily boarded a trolley near Malden sq.—and found herself sitting beside her mother.

The aged woman was in a dazed condition, but her overjoyed daughter aided her to their home, and then called a physician.

Sudden as a lightning stroke, this crisis struck at life, honor, happiness. And now this brave girl-wife tells what she did—and the amazing result!

HOW vividly she remembered that day—her wedding day—when orange blossoms turn to roses, and all life seems a bright golden chain of tomorrows!

Surely, nothing could ever dim their happiness...and that anxious look in his mother's eyes—that was just the way experience always looks at love-winged hope.

And Time...two whole years of it...was like an artist, deepening the tint of dreams to the richer colors of life. It was all so true!

But perhaps it was best she go home to bear the little blessing that was coming soon.

Meanwhile, Peter would stay in Georgia, directing a big engineering project for the government.

Months passed. Then sudden, shocking news. Peter discharged!

Too trustful little bride! Too long away! And too late his mother told her—"The history of the Meredith men is a history...of weak-willed, immoral, drunken—gentlemen." Incredible, but icy with fear, she flew back to his side.

Drunk? She could forgive that, but immoral—never, oh, never!

Then—her terrible ordeal. It so happened that her most trusted friend lay ill in a hospital. Margaret sought her there and found, too, her husband—not sick, not injured, but at the side of another woman whom he called—oh, that her startled, agonized cry could have stilled that word—her own—

But read this tremendous, true story—"The Marriage Bargain"—as Margaret herself tells it in July TRUE STORY Magazine. Read how she met the crisis of her life—and the amazing result! With 14 other great stories from real life, and many fascinating features—in July TRUE STORY—just out! Be sure to get your copy today.

THE DIARY OF TWO MILLION PEOPLE

Happily, your life may never have known such an experience as Margaret's. Yet such things happen about us every day—and how much richer life is when a big part of it is in knowing and understanding the experiences of others!

That is why TRUE STORY Magazine means so much to the 2 million people who read it, and who write its unforgettable stories.

TRUE STORY is helpful because it is genuine and real. It is frank because life is frank—and many of life's greatest problems and bitterest misfortunes arise from ignorance and concealment. ASKS COURT TO DISMISS JURY ON RACCO

Seven jurors had been selected when the session adjourned yesterday, and the trial was scheduled to resume at 9:30 today. However, it was 10:45 when Judge Quinn took his place on the bench, following a conference in his lobby and another in the office of Dist. Atty. William J. Foley.

WOULD DISMISS JURY.

When the case was called on, Dist. Atty. McDonald addressed the court.

"I move that three witnesses, all named in this case yesterday, be interrogated by the court as to this discussion on the jury room which took place in the jury room where all the jurors were gathered."

"Part of this discussion had to do with a statement in the effect that when the shooting took place there was a third man present and he got away. Also one of the witnesses has made the statement today that he knew one of the defendants but did not recognize him yesterday until having been pointed out to him."

The general discussion of the trial in the jury room yesterday would not be fair to all parties concerned, and I believe it is improper and prejudicial to the fair and impartial trial before this court."

Atty. Daniel J. Gallagher, counsel for the defense, asked if the motion meant that the whole case be dismissed, and McDonald replied: "Yes, if necessary."

The court asked that the witnesses brought forward by Carl Stucken, real estate operator of 15 Charles St., be called to the stand.

HEARD DISCUSSION

"Did you hear a discussion in the jury room with William J. Hurley as a prospective juror yesterday?" he asked.

"Did the discussion of the particular case you heard say the man who did the killing got away?"

"Something on that order."

The court then questioned the witnesses.

"Tell all you heard said to the best of your recollection," said the judge.

"I was seated on a table in the jury room," replied Stucken.

"There was a group of men nearby. I heard them say it was a bootlegger's affair, that the police caught two, but the third, who did the shooting, got away."

Q—Who made that statement? A—I do not remember.

Stucken then pointed to a man seated in the jury box, who was named and who was identified as William J. Hurley.

"That gentleman was in the circle of those carrying on the conversation," he said.

Stucken was asked by Attorney Gallagher when he first spoke to anyone about the matter after being released from service on the jury.

The witness said he was spoken to by Asst. Dist. Atty. William Hurley, who asked him for the details of the discussion. He said he told Stucken practically the same story he had told in court.

William J. Hurley, a clerk of 56 Myrtle St., Charlestown, was the next witness. He testified there was a general discussion in the jury room, but he did not hear anyone say the "killer" got away. The witness said all he recalled was that he was in the jury room with bootleggers interested, and that there was an automobile in the case. Hurley was challenged by the government when called yesterday.

The next witness was Herbert C. Gustafson, printer of 234 Metropolitan Ave., who was excused when called yesterday. He told Judge Quinn at that time he would not care to sit on the jury because he had boys of his own, and, furthermore, he had formed an opinion at that day.

Questioned regarding the discussion, he said he was seated at a table and overheard the conversation. He quoted one man as saying that the person who did the killing got away.

SEEK SUAVE STRANGER AS KIDNAPER OF GIRL

New York, June 5 (AP)—A "suave" stranger was being sought by police today as the kidnaper of a 16-year-old Grace Budd, who disappeared Sunday after her parents had given her permission to take her to her "sister's" birthday party.

The man, who said his name was Frank Howard, gained the confidence of Mr. and Mrs. Albert H. Budd when in response to a newspaper ad he offered their son, Edward Budd, 15, a job on a farm he said he owned in Farmingdale, L. I.

A Whisper Is Enough

New York, June 5 (AP)—There's such a thing as being altogether too nervous about unexplained disappearances. A furniture merchant put his in his show window with placards telling what he thought about them. The show dealer obtained an explanation.

More Music, Less "Songs"

New York, June 5 (AP)—What this country needs, in the opinion of John Emery, author, musician and teacher, is more good music teachers in high schools and fewer cheerleaders to lead the singing of silly songs.

Friendship May Be Flown Beyond Goal in England

Trepassey Bay, June 5 (AP)—

An intimation that the monoplane Friendship might fly beyond England was given by Miss Earhart, pilot winner of the St. Louis and Mechanicsville Gordon in conversation today.

They said their plans for a landing place on the other side of the Atlantic were indefinite.

Their purpose, they added, was to fly until they were exhausted and then descend, and they hoped to make a longer flight than any of their predecessors over this route.

FREE PRESS SURE GIRL WINS IN SEA FLIGHT

Amelia Earhart, Boston heroine of the latest attempt to hurdle the Atlantic, will reach London safely, friends at the Danvers airport declared today.

Aviator, author and motorcycle rider, with the quiet determination of a tactician, whom she so much resembles, they characterized her in the thorough portents which she carries through what she understands. They also revealed that the social settlement worker of Danvers House, whose special adventure was started without any fanfare of publicity or alarm of publicity, has a financial interest in the London airport and may some day have charge of a woman's flying club.

Pilot, mechanic and officials of the airport were all in the line to welcome her when she arrived, and Miss Earhart would accomplish her purpose.

A keen student of aviation, spending most of her spare time at the airport, she was characterized as a fine pilot with a comprehensive knowledge of navigation.

The latest was obtained by taking special courses at Harvard and M. T. C. when the girl first planned to make the overseas tour.

It was the cool, daring manner in which Miss Earhart handled herself when, in the air, she was in the line of "good sport" among the aviationists.

Two weeks ago she rode a motorcycle around the flat at Squantum, making on her return to the office "I used to ride one of those things, and the thrill has never worn off."

HUB GIRL FLIER EAGER TO HOP OVER OCEAN TODAY

hours before and carried no lunch to the Friendship.

Her first query was whether there was a message from home. She had written her sister Muriel a wonderfully brave little note, telling her that it would be all right to tell their mother of the flight now, and adding that if she must die it would be a fine way to go off in the midst of a great adventure."

The message had arrived, and the American girl's eyes lightened as she read it, though she said no word of its contents. It was evident, however, that her mother had given her a maternal blessing.

STUTZ AT CONTROLS According to the general plan, Stutz will be most of the piloting, and so be his own navigator and radio operator as well. But either of his companions is qualified to relieve him of the stick, and those who know Miss Earhart best are confident that she would never finish the flight without having had her turn at the controls.

Never before has an ocean flight been attempted with so many provisions for safety being taken.

In the first place the Friendship will be able to send out a radio message even if she is forced down. It is equipped with two radios, an ordinary one which will not function if the motors are silenced, and a reserve one which will send out its message in the event of that one's failure.

as I was when I picked up the papers and read that I had been supposed to be on a historical Sunday night that I was unable to see any of you newspaper men. I was calm and collected and was not in the least worried.

"Why just imagine," she continued, "laughter has flown over the Atlantic. What with three motors, a fine pilot, a radio and splendid compass, the trip is not near as dangerous as the ones she made across the continent."

"She has been flying for five years and all experienced pilots who know her say that she is very clever and careful. I can back up that statement because I have flown with her and enjoyed the experience very much indeed. I would go anywhere in the world with her and feel confident that we would reach our destination."

"You know, when the old mother men realize that one of her offspring is carrying out hazardous undertakings, she wishes she was along to take care of things. That is my feeling with regard to daughter's flight. I am sure she would be able to handle her own plane."

"One thing I have discovered about the members of the flying fraternity is that they are all so friendly. I have never met a class of people who are so sunny, intelligent and so willing to all with whom they come in contact. I love them and sympathize with their ambitions deeply."

Safety Motto Given by 'Dummy Cop'

By Frank A. Goodwin

Chief Safety Editor Boston Evening American and Former Registrar of Motor Vehicles for Commonwealth of Massachusetts.

John J. McCallister, a pupil at South Boston high school, wrote an essay on safety which the judges selected as the best in 50,000 submitted by boys and girls in the contest conducted in the Boston public schools.

John is to be commended for his initiative in writing this paper, and for his courage in submitting it to the judges. It is a fine example of the kind of work that should be done by all students in the public schools.

Frank A. Goodwin

I do not know how many of you have seen the dummy cop. He is a man in a uniform, with a sign on his back that says "DUMMY". He is used to teach children about safety. He is a very important part of the safety program in our schools.

by JOHN J. McCALLISTER, pupil in South Boston High School. I am a pupil in South Boston High School. I have written this essay on safety.

When I was a child, I was very curious. I would ask my father many questions. He would always answer me. He would tell me about the world and about life.

One day, I was playing in the yard. I was running and jumping. I was having a lot of fun. I was not thinking about safety. I was not thinking about the dummy cop.

Eddie Mack Is Now Eligible for the "Rained Out" Promoters Club

EVENING AMERICAN SPORT

Maloney Surprised Fans When He Scaled 96 Pounds

BOTH BITTLERS ON EDGE FOR TONIGHT'S GO

The 24-hour respite given "Dynamite Jim" Maloney, South Boston heavyweight for his comeback battle against Jack DeMare of Amsterdam, Holland, caused by the drizzle last night, is expected to result in sending a faster and more confident Maloney into the ring tonight at Braves Field, for the Pennsylvania idol is now more certain than ever before he will make good in this important fight.

In spite of the fact that the rain fix continues to trail Promoter Eddie Mack, causing thousands of fans who are disappointed, indications that one of the greatest throngs in boxing history will turn out when these evenly matched young giants step into the ring this evening.

That both men have trained more dutifully than ever before in their careers was conclusively demonstrated when they stepped on the scales at the office of the boxing commission yesterday.

While some of the skeptical fans doubted that Maloney had shifted down his weight from 160 to 150 pounds, the scales at the commission yesterday showed that Maloney had indeed lost 10 pounds, and that he was now a 150-pounder.

Maloney's work will be done today by the principals, although they will be in the ring for a short time, to keep on the edge for each in the belief that the best possible condition will be in the ring tonight, for no one has been in the ring since the 15th of May.

Apparently Maloney has lost more than 10 pounds.

grow-up youngster who loves to play jokes on his friends and tell funny stories is going to keep out of mischief for some time. Mickey has several good directorial assignments that will keep him busy for some time. One of these is to direct Douglas MacLean in two pictures. Personally, I think it is a pity that Doug who has had pictures that were a long way from being funny. Mickey knows how to blend comedy and drama and we are expecting that in "The Carnation Kid," written by Al Cohen and directed by the Christie boys and MacLean and produced by Paramount.

Just one more thing about Doug. He and his friends are staging a reunion at F. B. O. The first acting scene ever did on the screen for Mickey was in 1924 when now he is playing the lead in "The Little Rascal."

opera, "Rigoletto," is a powerful story and one that has a part well suited to Conrad Veidt. It seems reasonably certain that Mary Philbin and Conrad Veidt will have the principal roles. Mary is under contract to Universal and is highly regarded by Laemmle.

THE purchase of "A Single Man" for Lew Cody is now an accomplished fact. Moreover, Alice Pringle is to co-star with the Tebournais Lew. I have an idea when I so gaily mentioned M. G. M. was negotiating for this property it was

Now we are told that she is in play landing lady roles. I dimly remember her in "The Poor Nut," in which she was very good, so it may be a wise investment for Paramount, who knows.

YOU can usually tell what a player thinks of a picture by the intonation of her voice. I am not psychic but I gathered Irene Rich feels "Craig's Wife" is the best opportunity she has had in a long time to show the kind of little newspaper work and contributing fiction to the magazines she has nothing to do.

Elsie says she was invited to contribute a daily column to one of the papers and when she got ready to comment on current events and realized it meant seven days a week for four weeks a month and twelve months a year she couldn't write a word.

One of her short stories, "Listen Baby," has been purchased by Cecil De Mille and will be made into a movie.

THE BOSTON AMERICAN'S PLATFORM FOR BOSTON AND NEW ENGLAND

For BOSTON: 1—Clean streets.
2—Solution of traffic and parking problems.
3—Better pay for honest public service.
4—An airport SECOND FOR BOSTON.
5—Erection of a MUNICIPAL AUDITORIUM to compare with any in the land.
In order that Boston, properly supplied with first-class hotel, may be the premier convention city of the U. S. A.

For NEW ENGLAND: 1—Weld the six States into a unit through the activities of the New England Council, thus creating a community consciousness.
2—Promote intercourse with Central and South America, encouraging New Englanders to "turn to the sea" again.

3—Keeping everlastingly at the job of selling the rest of the country all about our unique advantages as Summer and Winter Playground of the Nation.
4—Foster the prosperity of our industries through (1) greater efficiency in production and (2) the use of modern methods in merchandising.
5—Promote in every way such natural resources as forests, water powers and fisheries.
6—Assist New England agriculture to better marketing methods.

Everything Is Better

Even the Barber's Hard Job

Two things everybody should do—work hard and BE DISSATISFIED with things as they are.
Working hard is a duty and the only road to success. INTELLIGENT dissatisfaction means making things better.

But while we should all be dissatisfied with ourselves and with conditions, especially with the condition of the less prosperous, we should occasionally find comfort in the extraordinary improvement visible everywhere, in all lines of work.

For instance, ask John Maiorillo, philosophical barber who does things exactly as you want them done in the "exclusive" barber shop of the Ritz Tower, on the fashionable corner of Fifty-seventh street and Park avenue.
Mr. Maiorillo says: "Young folks dissatisfied ought to know how things were when I learned my trade as an apprentice barber. I was glad to get $1.50 a week. For the I worked all day from 7 o'clock in the morning until 9 o'clock at night. I had to come early, before 7, and clean up. I had to clean up after the others went away. By and by I got to be what they call 'half a barber.' I could shave people, but I could not cut hair yet. When they thought I knew how to cut hair I was a 'full barber.'"

"And even a full barber got only eight or nine dollars a week in those days. The tips when you got them were five cents or ten cents, even in good barber shops. Seven in the morning until 9 at night were the working hours. If you stepped away from your chair in that time you got an ugly look from the boss barber."

Barbers are not satisfied yet, and they ought not to be in a country as rich as this things should grow steadily better. They will grow better, if men and women think earnestly and work HARD AND HONESTLY while they strive for better things.

Always be dissatisfied, first of all with YOURSELF. For the real trouble is in ourselves.
Second, with CONDITIONS, for they can always be made better. But while you criticize yourself, and while you strive to make conditions better for all that work, DON'T FORGET TO WORK HARD.

Not Pleasant to Meet

But a Good Excuse to Reprint a Great Poem

"TIGER, TIGER, BURNING BRIGHT, IN THE FOREST OF THE NIGHT"

This hideous creature is a tiger of northern Siam. Merely to look at him makes your blood run cold. No wonder the approach of such a beast terrifies the isolated native so that he cannot scream or run or fight.

Fighting would do him no good in any case. The line underneath the picture is from Blake's poem that everybody should know, although not everybody can appreciate it. This is an excellent time to reprint that poem.

THE TIGER

Tiger! Tiger! Burning bright,
In the forest of the night,
What immortal hand or eye
Could frame thy fearful symmetry?

In what distant deeps or skies
Burnt the fire of thine eyes?
On what wings dare he aspire?
What the hand dare seize the fire?

And what shoulder, and what art,
Could twist the sinews of thy heart?
And when thy heart began to beat,
What dread hand and what dread feet?

What the hammer? What the chain?
In what furnace was thy brain?
What the anvil? What dread grasp
Dare its deadly terrors clasp?

When the stars threw down their spears
And watered heaven with their tears,
Did he smile his work to see?
Did he who made the Lamb, make thee?

Reverse Police All Up in the Air

BOY HAS RIGHT TO BARK OWN SHINS

By DR. FRANK CRANE

A MOTHER recently complained that her son had not appreciated her. She had done everything for him, slaved and sacrificed for him and always helped him. Why this ingratitude?

This mother, it turned out, had committed a great wrong against her child. The trouble is she had always intervened between him and the consequences of his evil deeds.

We have a right to those consequences, for that is the way we learn about living.
Every boy has an inalienable right to bump his own nose and bark his own shins. When the mother is constantly intervening to protect him from the effects of his own mistakes, she is robbing him of the privilege of learning the greatest lessons of life.

In after years we find ourselves more thankful for our rebuffs than for our successes. To paraphrase the Scripture, with our stripes, that is, our own stripes, we are healed.
When we get to Heaven and look back over this earthly career, we will be much more grateful for our knocks than our hugs.

Very often our enemies perform for us our greatest service.
When a man the other day swindled me out of some money and when I had to grin and bear it rather than go through the long process of litigation, I reflected after all I would rather be swindled than be the swindler.

I once had an uncle whom I had had cheated out of $5000. We all asked him why he didn't sue the man and get his money back.
"Well," he said, "I would only make a lot of enemies and, besides, I can make $5000 much more quickly than I could get the money back from him."

If we would lay aside our vindictive feelings we would, most of us, find that it is cheaper to go ahead constructively than to get even with somebody that has wronged us.

Our hard knocks are our inalienable right, and properly taken or taken in the right spirit, they teach us our best lessons.
Ruskin said that false religion compounds with sin, while true religion stops it.

The baby learns about the hot stove by burning his fingers, and the way we learn about the things in life that threaten our welfare is by being occasionally bitten or injured. Let your boy take his lesson, dear mother, and quit stopping in between him and the rod.

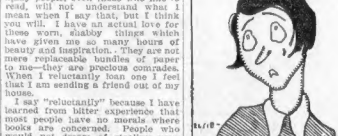

LISTEN, WORLD!

By ELSIE ROBINSON

MRS. ELLIS wants me to make get them back to any condition. From rough conditions I have not mated still at least two-thirds of the nation named are either lost or ruined.
I would not mind so much if this horrowers were poor people who could not afford to buy or rent their own homes. But they are usually simply too stupid to buy or too lazy to go down to a library.

One of my friends has met this evil by having a printed placard on her wall.

WHERE IS MY WANTED BOOK TONIGHT?

her name. "No books listed." Another one makes all borrowers their names in the book, and the date of the loan. But I don't like to do that. The exchange of books seems to be one of the lowliest marks of friendship—I hate to violate it. I only wish that my friends felt that way about it too.

Surely something should be done to arouse a book conscience in people. It is always amusing to me to realize that people who are honest and considerate and refined in every respect can act like savages with books. I always suspect that there is something graver lacking in the culture of a person who does not respect a fine book.

WORDS OF THE WISE MEN

Polltiness costs nothing and gains nothing—Montagu.
Some report elsewhere whatever is said.

NEW YORK, June 5—On Broadway perhaps more than most places you hear the warning: "Don't let 'em kid you!" And yet there are few spots where the gentle art of kidding pays so prettily. Night clubs reaped a harvest by having hostesses request customers to stand up in a foolish bow.

The hand waiter who can call a man by name on his second visit does not have to wrinkle a brow—it is about the future. A comedian received backing for a starring vehicle by angling a rich man in the audience to make him the target for subtle compliments.

The gaudy movie temples increase their revenues by the simple expedient of having uniformed flunkies "sit" the customers. Paul Whitehead's best trick of leaving his lady to slip across the room and shake hands with a diner added largely to his popularity.

Handreds go to the conspicuous first nights in the hope of being flashlighted as they step from cars. A lot of powder is expended, but only a slim few are actually photographed. The rest are merely being played out for the cameras in their window.

A perfume parlor engineered a sales apout naming perfumes after a group of celebrities. It was all the same scene, but bore the names of those honored on the bottles and their quickly exhausted the supply to send off to friends.

A perfumier is no different from the rest of the world. We all purr to flattery. But because Broadway wears its vanity on its sleeve it is more susceptible. After all there is no harm accepting a little kidding, but it is well to observe the motto: Don't back just on his head. "Don't kid yourself."

BROADWAY offers this brand of modesty. A maid who appeared in a cabaret in extremely disheveled costume recently resigned, explaining to the management her dress. "I thought her costume entirely too unrefined. He thought and shot at least war time fashion."

OF the newer hotel announced it has removed the charge in its dining rooms, save on Saturday night. That's handy. In a great big-hearted way it merely takes advantage of a rush of business.

WHEN Broadway lights up, the entrances to dance halls are crowded with groups of young men, and the street is full of them. The cops call them "flunkies," but in their world they are "couple dancers." Every night one of the dance halls has a gain night. These are the lads who enter all contests in honor of the reward and the handsome fee that goes with it. Incidentally, if you have not seen James Barton in action you have missed a swell theatrical high spot. My idea of a perfect show is one starring Barton, Will Mahoney and Jack Donahue.

A NOVEL galloping from the press shortly was written by a blind man who never saw Broadway, but it is said his description of a place of night life on this boulevard is the most accurate ever written.

AMONG the latest success stories are those wild-eyed jazz performers who seem taken suddenly by an epileptic seizure and try to stamp a hole through the stage, shrieking nonsensical babble. That's about something like anti-pop-dance-demonstrations.

AND recalling, please one must not forget the thin-skinned grammatical know-it-alls, who scour for misplaced "whens" and conjunctive misuses, so the pale little leopards will bury their approval and come over their brightness.

Live Forever

That's the Advice for Mussolini

Mussolini, working to make Fascist government perpetual, will find it hard to make anything take the place of combined personality and will power.
An important editor, asking how his newspaper could be made a permanent institution, was told by a friend: "It's simple enough, live forever."

That is the answer to Mussolini. When HE goes, nobody knows what will happen. Meanwhile he plays a great world part and has carried Italy through dangerous years.
War brings lassitude, drifting, and weakens old ideas. Mussolini stopped all that, in Italy.
